

The Menemsha Fisheries Development Fund Presents the 2008 Lecture and Film Series At the Chilmark Public Library

- Wed. May 7, 5:30 p.m. Former Maine Commissioner of Marine Resources Robin Alden, who now operates a lobster hatchery, with fisheries researcher Ted Ames.
- Wed. May 21, 5:30 p.m. Mass. Director of Marine Fisheries Paul Diodati with John Pappalardo, a member of the New England Fisheries Management Council and the Massachusetts Marine Fishery Advisory Commission
- Wed. June 18, 5:30 p.m. Robert Kennedy, Director of Natural Science for the Maria Mitchell Association of Nantucket, talking about Scallop research.
- Thurs. June 26, 5 p.m. University of New Hampshire Professor of Natural Resources Policy and Management Andrew Rosenberg.
- Wed. July 23, 5:30 p.m. National Geographic film The Realm of the Lobsters, featuring dramatic underwater film footage of the life of this remarkable crustacean.
- Wed. July 30, 5:30 p.m. Rutgers University professor Bruce Franklin, author of The Most Important Fish in the Sea: Menhaden and America.
- Wed. Aug. 27, 5:30 p.m. Author and environmental journalist Dick Russell, whose book Striper Wars: An American Fish Story, chronicles the efforts to prevent the collapse of the Striped Bass fishery.