The shed I am looking to build would be 16'x16' and the building itself would be around 17' tall. I would like to build it on sono-tubes so that it is off of the ground high enough so that wild animals do not crawl under there and die. Maybe a foot of clearance?

My hopeful building location is in the back most part of the yard, behind the guest house and the main house, and in a low spot of a wooded area.

Thank you for the help,
