2. Hardware
Large computer monitor for plan review:	$ 500.0	00
Tablet with (LTE Firstnet+wifi):	$ 700.0	00

Regarding Hardware: The ability to have connectivity in the field with a LTE tablet for emails, and access to project files is critical. Moreover, when the online permitting is up and running, the tablet will be critical for successful implementation of the program.

Computer Monitor: In order to accurately visualize and navigate through plansets, zoning and mapping data, you need to have a large monitor.

Proposed Budget

Software: Bluebeam the defacto standard in the AEC (architecture engineering and construction) field. Marking up drawings collaborating with applicatants, visualizing mapping and zoning data, creating forms, and sharing project files. UpCodes is a searchable online database of the codes in a digital format, and makes compliance research and code lookups quicker and easier. It is used by many building code professionals, as well as in the AEC community.

Exams and Code books: for exams and building department administration

The proposed Local Inspector Exam Fees include re-test fees, as many code professionals require more than one chance to pass.
